New Day, Different Sunrise-September

I have loved a few Septembers before.

I would know how vibrant these Septembers are, how they intricately hide their vile darkness with masks of hopeful longings. Septembers make me believe we are still clinging to the warmth of summer despite the cold caving in.

The Septembers I have loved had a blueprint of my heart in their palms, they always knew how to get around me. They had way too many tricks up their sleeves and I, a child born on April Fools, became their willing audience.

The Septembers I have loved, never really knew how to love. And like August, they all simply slipped away....

If the sight of the blue skies fills us with joy, if a blade of grass springing up in the fields has power to move us, if the simple things of nature have a message that we understand, rejoice, for our soul is alive.

I hope we remember today that if we slip up, we can restart our day at any time. We don't have to wait till the next day to start over. Just sit down, breathe for a few minutes, and start again....

My Family

In the tapestry of life, a family we are,
Bound by love, though distances are far,
Separated by dreams, by miles, and by fate,
But our hearts entwined, never to abate.

In distant lands, we chase our aspirations,
Education and work, our chosen vocations,
Yet, our souls remain connected, strong,
In this journey of life, we all belong.

My parents, pillars of wisdom and care,
Their love, a bond that's always there,
Guiding me from a far, with love so true,
Their teachings and warmth, forever in view.

My soulmate, the love of my life's embrace,
Though apart, our love's a steady pace,
Each day we yearn, for that warm embrace,
To be together again, in the same space.

Two daughters, my pride, my joy, my heart,
We're living apart, but never apart,
With every milestone, I ache to be near,
To witness their growth, to hold them dear.
Oh, how I long to reunite, to be whole,
To live under one roof, to reach that goal,
But life's demands keep us scattered, it seems,
Yet, our love remains intact, in our dreams.

Though miles may separate, emotions are strong,
In our hearts, we'll always belong,
One day, the distance will finally fade,
And in each other's arms, we'll find our shade.

Till then, we hold on to love's connection,
With hope and faith, we'll overcome this section,
For family, though apart, can never truly part,
Bound by love's thread, forever in our heart.

Life You Are So Partial

Life you are so partial
Sometimes you become too crucial
To solve, to handle and to tackle
Everyone is bound by your shackles
You treat someone as common
And other as special

Life you are so partial
Everyone tries to live here
But no, everyone can live here
Days are when time are too harsh
Definitely this too shall pass
You are the only one for you to hassle

Life you are so partial
A bed of flowers or a gift so gay
Some are quiet, others may say
Not everyone is equal
For life there is sequel
What is destined shall take place
But everyone will find a way
Outta this maze

Never get disheartened by the regards on the line
Tell yourself everything will be fine
A day will come, when you will be special
And then you proclaim
Life is not too partial.

हिंदी भाषा की कहानी शेबा की जबानी

सुनो सुनो तुम मेरी बात, बतलाऊं मैं तुमको आज

हिंदी एक ऐसी भाषा है, जो सर्वाग्रही की परिभाषा है।

शब्द कोई हो, हो किसी भी भाषा के अंग,

हिंदी भाषा सबको अपना लेती है, रखती अपने सगं
तत्सम, तदभव, देसी, विदेशी, संधि, समास, दोहा, चौपाई।

सभी में हिंदी भाषा समायी, सभी में हिंदी भाषा समायी।

अलंकारों का करके शृंगार, बहाती रस छंदों की फुहार,
कैसे कोई भलान करें, कैसे कोई भलान करें इस भाषा से प्यार

सुनो सुनो तुम मेरी बात, बतलाऊं मैं तुमको आज

सहजता सरलता वैज्ञानिकता का गहना पहने
करो प्रेम, सम्मान निज भाषा का, आई हूं मैं यह सबसे कहने।

क्योंकि कहे, भारते न दुनिज भाषा नहीं उन्नति के मूल,

निज भाषा नहीं उन्नति के मूल,

बिना इस सम्मान दिए, नहीं मिटेंगे हृदय के शूल।

सुनो सुनो तुम मेरी बात, बतलाऊं मैं तुमको आज॥

कहेरी बा हिन्दी भाषा के राज, कहेरी बा हिन्दी भाषा के राज

यही हमारा मुकुट, यही हमारा ताज।

इस भाषा की क्या ही बात, सज जाते स्वरो के साज।

सुनो सुनो तुम मेरी बात, बतलाऊं मैं तुमको आज॥

The Disaster Management Cycle

Dr. Aftab Alam, Dr. Vikas Kumar,
Dr. Rajiv and Dr. Amod Kumar

Department of Mathematics,
Faculty of Science, SVSU, Meerut

Disaster management aims to reduce, or avoid the potential losses from hazards, assure prompt and appropriate assistance to victims of disaster, and achieve rapid and effective recovery. The Disaster management cycle illustrates the ongoing process by which governments, businesses, and civil society plan for and reduce the impact of disasters, react during and immediately following a disaster, and take steps to recover after a disaster has occurred.

Appropriate actions at all points in the cycle lead to greater preparedness, better warnings, reduced vulnerability or the prevention of disasters during the next iteration of the cycle. The complete disaster management cycle includes the shaping of public policies and plans that either modify the causes of disasters or mitigate their effects on people, property, and infrastructure.

The mitigation and preparedness phases occur as disaster management improvements are made in anticipation of a disaster event. Developmental considerations play a key role in contributing to the mitigation and preparation of a community to effectively confront a disaster. As a disaster occurs, disaster management actors, in particular humanitarian organizations become involved in the immediate response and long-term recovery phases. The four disaster management phases illustrated here do not always, or even generally, occur in isolation or in this precise order. Often phases of the cycle overlap and the length of each phase greatly depends on the severity of the disaster.

White Button Mushroom (agaricus Bisporus) like A Fungus

Mushroom is the fleshy, spore-bearing fruiting body structure of a fungus (microorganism). It is grown by various methods on land, soil or any source of food etc. In India, earlier its production was limited to the winter season, but with the development of technology, it is produced almost throughout the year on small, medium and large scale by adopting various methods/technology. At the level of different technology, it is seen that generally there are two types of mushrooms i.e. edible and non-edible mushrooms.

Our own Mathematics–The Vedic Mathematics

Dr. Ekta Gupta

Assistant Professor
Department of Physics,
Faculty of Science

Subharti University,
Meerut -250005 (U.P.), India

The term “Veda” means storage of knowledge. Vedic Mathematics (VM) is an ancient form of mathematics reconstructed from ancient Indian scriptures known as the Vedas. VM is a component of four Vedas (books of wisdom). It is part of Sthapatya-Veda (civil engineering book and architecture), which is an upa-veda (supplement) of Atharva Veda.

It covers the explanation of various modern mathematical terms that include arithmetic, geometry (plane, coordinates), trigonometry, quadratic equations, factorization and calculus.

His Holiness Jagadguru Shankaracharya Bharati Krishna Teerthaji Maharaja (1884-1960) understood all this work and gave his mathematical explanation while discussing it for various applications.

Identification and Formulation of the Research Problem

Organizes Workshop On

“Identification and Formulation of the Research Problem”

Research is the application of a systematized method in the study of problems. It is scientific and seeks to integrate its findings leading to development of organized and useful knowledge as well as solution of a problem. The research process starts with the identification and selection of a problem for investigation. This initial step is very challenging for a researcher as he/she may not have any prior experience in this direction. The procedure starts with choosing a broad field within which study is to be conducted. The field should be interesting to the researcher as he/she has to put in a lot of effort and time to it. This is narrowed down to a problem which is selected by the researcher. A number of factors operate in its selection.
